

Press Release of June 24th 2008.

X-Media Development and Altimix join to create XIMEDIA Software

X-Media Development, provider of solutions dedicated to the sector of written communication, and Altimix, specialist in Web developments, join to create XIMEDIA Software.

XIMEDIA Software will offer innovative solutions for written and numerical (Web and mobile) communication, built by enrichment of the XIBUX platform (www.xibux.com) (Information Management System).

XIBUX enables the creation and management of a website or a group of websites in collaborative and multilingual working environment. XIBUX offers both end-user and developer interfaces so that it can be used by a communication or a technical department.

Companies of all sizes and all sectors, directly followed-up by XIMEDIA Software or by its network of VARs and partners, will be able to access the best of technology to manage in an industrial and productive way their communication challenges (diffusion of editorial contents, interactions with customers, employees, suppliers, etc.)

X-Media, which develops and implements software solutions for the media industry since 1992, will put its experience into this project, X-Media becoming the first VAR of XIBUX for the Media sector.

XIMEDIA Software is based in Marseille and Paris and has a representation in Milan.

Jean-Michel ROSAZ will take the Presidency and Said DJADANE the General Direction.
